The Birkebeiner Legend

In the year 1206 a civil war raged in Norway. The infant prince and direct heir to the throne, Haakon Haakonsson, was in danger and in hiding near Lillehammer. Two brave Birkebeiner warriors carried the Prince 55 km on skis over two mountain ranges in the dead of winter to safety. The young prince, later crowned King of Norway, ended the civil war. The Birkebeiners (Birchbarkleggers) got their name from wrapping and tying birch bark around their legs like gaiters. This kept the snow out, and protected their legs in battle.

The Legend lives on

Today, Birkebeiner has come to mean a person who is strong in adversity, never daunted by trial and hardships. The dramatic flight of the Birchlegs and the infant king is commemorated every year by the Norwegian, American and Canadian Birkebeiners.
